About the Travelfinesse brand

Every leisure journey with Travelfinesse is a life changing experience for our guests - it could be anything from bathing and painting an elephant at an Elephant Farm, a local cooking class in Rajasthan, a spa stay on a houseboat in Kerala or even picking your own fruits or tea leaves on our exclusive eco tours - which, incidentally, have been designed keeping in mind the global responsibility to promote wilderness and natural habitat . We present travel in its most formidable avatar – experiences fused with memories, especially designed to alter the normal course of life. Parikshith himself accompanies most journeys, or at least a section of each, in the TravelFinesse segment personally - both since he's basically a traveler at heart himself, and also to see firsthand the varied reactions of our guests to the cultural potpourri of the Indian subcontinent! Our repeat guests usually ask for him by name to accompany them on their journeys, as they enjoy his vast experience and depth of knowledge in our areas of expertise. On a normal day at work, Parikshith can be found at a potter's or a textile weaver's workshop somewhere deep in a village in rural Rajasthan with his guests, while Swati is most likely traveling internationally to spread the word!
